ATLANTA (March 3, 2010) – For one weekend only, Jimi Hendrix fans can not only hear but see the legacy of this rock icon at an exhibit of his artwork exclusively at The Georgian Terrace Hotel from Friday, March 25 - Sunday, March 28. Authentic Hendrix and the Hendrix estate have corroborated, archived and restored musician Jimi Hendrix's art for this exhibition, which coincides with the 2010 tribute tour, Experience Hendrix, Saturday, March 27, at the Fox Theatre.

Rare limited editions of his paintings and song manuscripts will be on display. From beautiful watercolors to magical abstracts to hand-signed pieces by fellow rock icons Grace Slick and Ron Wood — Hendrix's art contains the same electric energy found in his powerful music. Revelers can peruse the art, which is available for sale, and sip the "Purple Haze" cocktail, created exclusively for the event, in the bar at Livingston Restaurant + Bar.
